Describe the present and original (if known) physical appearance

The Elkton Armory is located within a few blocks of the center of downtown Elkton in a area of mixed residential and commercial uses. To the west across Bow Street is an abandoned school building with large surrounding playground and open spaces.

The Armory is a two story brick structure with full basement faced with light grey granite. Attached to the rear of this two-story main block is a narrower one-story drill hall. A modern one-story brick garage has been added to the rear of the drill hall. The front (Railroad Avenue) facade is oriented to the south, and is composed of a center section flanked by two-bay side sections. Bracketing the side sections are round towers at each end of the facade. Reading from east to west the features of the facade are as follows: At the corner is a two-story tower with one window each at basement, first and second floors, 1/1 replacement sash, all with stone lintels and sills except at the first floor where the windows are set into the stone water table. Windows across the entire facade are in the same style, with decorative stripping applied on the interior so that the windows have the superficial appearance of 4/4 sash. A band of stone molding encircles the tower above the second floor window. Three crenelles with stone caps crown the tower. Flanking the tower on its east side is a buttress with stone cap and stone trimmed setbacks corresponding to the bases and tops of the second floor windows and the band of stone molding above the windows.

Between the tower and center front is a two-bay side section, two windows each at basement, first and second floor levels, styled and trimmed as noted for the tower. The stone water table continues across the section as in the tower and a stone coping corresponding to the line of stone molding on the tower crosses the top of the side section. The top of the side section is finished with two crenelles with stone caps.

The center front features a slightly pointed arched doorway in stone at ground level, inside which wide double doors are recessed several feet. Surmounting the arched doorway is an elaborate stone panel containing the seal of the State of Maryland. Two windows occur at second floor level, styled and trimmed as in the side section and tower. The stone coping crosses the center front at top and is crowned by three crenelles with stone caps. A pair of buttresses flank the doorway with stone trimmed setbacks corresponding to the tops of the first floor windows, with stone caps set at the level of the bases of the second floor windows. Each cap contains a carved trefoil design.

The west side section is identical to that on the east side of the center section. The tower at the westernmost end of the facade contains two windows each at the basement, first and second floors. The outermost basement window has been blocked and stuccoed over. The design and trim of the windows and other structural details of the tower are identical to the tower on the east end of the facade. Attached to the tower on its west side at second floor level is a round chimney. The chimney rests on an inverted cone-shaped base of stone, decorated with four bands surmounting a small human-like mask.

The east side of the center block contains three windows at basement level (the center one blocked and stuccoed over), three at the first floor and two on the second floor (in two rearmost bays), all designed and trimmed as on the front facade. Four stone-capped crenelles top the center block side. The rear one-story drill hall over full basement is six bays long, punctuated by six buttresses with stone trimmed setbacks corresponding to water table, first floor window bases and tops, and capped with stone. First floor windows are four-paned sash under one-pane horizontal strips, one window per bay trimmed with stone sill. The roof over the drill hall is a shallow barrel vault.

The rear of the Armory drill hall is brick and with three rows of corbelling comprising a decorative arch over two original industrial-style windows. A one-story brick garage and fenced motor compound occupy the rear yard.

The west side of the building is identical to the east side except the rearmost bay of the drill hall contains a double door entry to the basement with cement ramp leading up to the street.

The well maintained long front lawn contains an elevated sidewalk, as if masking a bunker or tunnel, leading from the street to the front doors. Double flights of cement steps run perpendicular to the front facade and join the walkway immediately in front of the entrance. Near the street on the front lawn is a marble monument depicting a World War I soldier in uniform, a memorial to the citizens of Cecil County who served in that war.

Statement of Significance (in one paragraph)

Applicable Criteria: A, C
 Applicable Exceptions: none
 Significance Evaluated: state

The Elkton, Maryland Armory is primarily significant for its association with the reorganization and expansion of the National Guard system in the twentieth century. It derives additional significance from its role as a social center for its community, a function it has served continuously since its construction date. Architecturally, the building embodies the distinctive characteristics of its type, including a T shaped plan with a two-story front "head house" section and a one-story perpendicular "drill hall" extending to the rear; its facade is detailed to recall Medieval fortifications, with towers flanking the central entrance, crenellated parapets, and strip buttresses.

The Elkton Armory, completed in 1915 at a cost of $39,000 was dedicated to the uses of Company E of the 115th Infantry, 29th Division of the National Guard. Subsequent reorganizations renamed the unit 1729th Maintenance Company, under the fifth regiment. As part of the 29th Division, the unit shares in the honors bestowed upon the Division at the close of World War II, most notably the distinguished unit citation and French Croix de Guerre with Palm. Personnel of the unit are proud of its history and continuity, and a number of them are second and even third generations of Cecil County families with records of service in the same unit.

The Armory has housed a number of community events over the years and is credited to have started the first bowling alley in Cecil County in its drill hall during the 1940s. The Armory has also been the scene of community emergency operations, most notably the grim but necessary task of providing temporary shelter for the bodies of victims of a commercial airliner crash in 1963 which occurred two miles outside of Elkton.
